What is "commercial use"?

Commercial use is any kind of promotion/advertising for a product or service that generates revenue. The use can be direct or indirect. Direct use could be in an advertisement for a product. Indirect use could be a social media post on a business page or any other website that promotes a product or service without specifically selling or promoting the business. Neither of these uses would be permitted if the icon is marked as "Editorial Use Only".

Please note that, in some countries, the editorial use may not be considered as valid regarding the national intellectual property regulation. You must confirm whether, according to your applicable law, this editorial use is acceptable.
